From the President

Well it seems that October was warmer than usual...very nice, but not as colourful as usual...not so great. Too dry "they" say! Regardless we did have a very pleasant first Field Trip to Shade's Mills Conservation area. Our educational Groups are all functioning well...Digital, Photo Art, Black and White, Studio. And General meeting speaker Richard Lautens was educational and entertaining.

Congratulations to Kirk Johnston, Peter Young, and Jim Wallace for having their art chosen by the Mayor's Gala Committee for that event. Great publicity for them, Latow, and BAC. And a big thankyou to Glen Jones, Fred Oliver, and Jim Wallace for their long hours to

Editorial

This month we witness very interesting seminars and an active participation and in our Tuesday meetings. I captured some moments during Edward's Studio presentation, the circumstances allowed for some shots; maybe we can share them during the Christmas Potluck dinner.

I want to thank Ron Chalecki for his faithful monthly submission of pictures. At the same time I want to encourage both veteran as well as NEW members to send me your pictures together with some notes or a complete description for the About the IMAGES column. The newsletter serves as an informal vehicle to share your pictures. .

Upcoming and New from the president's desk

Arts Burlington Social: Note date change, now Nov 7, and refer to the entertaining email from Joh Friedrich. A Halloween mask theme. This event is open to members of all BAC Guilds, and is intended to promote Guild interaction. Any and all of you who think of attending should do so.

Oakville 150th Anniversary event: A reminder that submission deadline is Nov 7. Details previously emailed to members.

BAC Christmas Sale and Soup Bowl Event : This is an Arts Burlington fund raising event. Latow rep and overall event co-ordinator is our own Bill Warren. Dates Nov 23 to 25, and the Soup Bowl runs those dates plus Nov 22. This is a chance to exhibit and/or sell your work, and seeing all that art in one place is exciting. The Soup Bowl is a great lunch, and just attending is a very pleasant social occasion. [See Group News for further details]

Christmas Potluck:

Yes...Christmas is coming! This of course is our Dec 4 general meeting, and Marlene Howard is our event chair this year. She will be assisted by previous chair Marianne Limberger and others who need your help with timely offers of taste delights for this fun and informal evening. Apart from a great meal, we can look forward to a short and light hearted AV presentation by David Seldon. Sounds to me like an evening both you and your spouse would enjoy!

BAC Annual Art Auction:

This is a BAC fund raising event. The Call for Entry and Entry forms are now available. Entry forms and digital images must be received by Dec 10. The selection of works will be done by Jury, and works selected will be sold by live auction. The selection will reflect the makeup of the Art Centre itself, including the art of all of the Guilds at BAC, and several Latow members did enter and have their works sold last year.

Other November activities:

A reminder that deadline for next Newsletter is Nov 25...how about a couple of good November images for Pedro, our Newsletter editor? I am reminded of the article by Andre Gallant(our April 2007 Seminar speaker) in the November 2007 issue of Photo Life , entitled November Hues. Lots of good "frost on the pumpkin" ideas there!

About the IMAGEs

This month's images are about November, about Remembrance, about the darkening of the skies as our landscapes fall into the quietude of winter. As Ron Chalecki mentioned in his e-mail regarding his images "...drab, foreboding and desolate".

produce the prints for that Gala.

As to recent Board actions, we have approved a significant expenditure for a new backdrop in the Studio, and we are considering quotes and alternatives for improvements to our Digital capability.

And finally, my wife Pat and I will be taking a break in November, to South Carolina. In my absence, Past President Joh Friedrich will be attending to any urgent business that comes along. I'll see you at Christmas Potluck!
